II. Reading Comprehension 20%: Each reading passage is followed by five questions. Choose the best answer to each question (閱讀下面兩篇文章並依據文意選擇最正確的答案).

In the United States, 30 percent of the adult population has a "weight problem." To many people, the cause is obvious: we eat too much. But scientific evidence does little to support this idea. Going back to the America of 1910, we find that people were leaner than today, yet they ate more food. In those days people worked harder physically, walked more, used machines much less, and didn't watch TV.

Several modern studies, moreover, have shown that fatter people do not eat more on average than thinner people. In fact, some investigations, such as a 1979 study of 3,545 London office workers, report that, on balance, fat people eat less than slimmer people.

Studies show that slim people are more active than fat people. A study by a research group at Stanford University School of Medicine found the following interest facts:

The more the men ran, the greater loss of body fat.

The more they ran, the greater their increase in food intake.

Thus, those who ran the most ate the most, yet lost the greatest amount of body.

21. What kind of physical problem do many adult Americans have?
(A) They are too slim. (B) They work too hard.
(C) They are too fat. (D) They lose too much body fat.
22. Based upon the statistics given in the article, suppose there are 100 adult Americans, about how many of them will have a "weight problem?"
(A) 30 (B) 50 (C) 100 (D) 150
23. Is there scientific evidence to support that eating too much is the cause of a "weight problem?"
(A) Yes, there is plenty of evidence.
(B) Of course, there is some evidence to show this is true.
(C) There is hardly any scientific evidence to support this statement.
(D) We don't know because the information is not given.
24. In comparison with the adult American population today, the Americans of 1910 _____
(A) ate more food and had more physical activities
(B) ate less food but had more activities
(C) ate less food and had less physical exercise
(D) had more weight problem
25. What have modern medical and scientific researches reported to us?
(A) Fat people eat more food than slim people and are more active.
(B) Fat people eat less food and are less active.
(C) Fat people eat more food than slim people but are less active.
(D) Thin people run less, but have greater increase in food intake.

If you are lucky enough to live in a big city, you may have a number of ethnic restaurants to choose from. These restaurants offer a great way to experience different cultures. Most people love Italian food, with its wealth of pasta dishes and flavorful sauces. But if you find this is not for you, why not try Greek or Mexican food? Mexican food is famous for its tortillas. Tortillas are delicious when filled with ingredients such as cheese, meat, and sour cream.

26. What is the main idea of this passage?
- (A) Nothing can beat ethnic food.
 - (B) Italian food is everyone's favorite ethnic food.
 - (C) More and more people are trying ethnic food.
 - (D) It's interesting to try different foods.
27. Which of the following is the best title for the passage?
